

Stonewall
Acceptance without exception

'I feel comfortable now. But when there wasn't a group for LGBT+ employees, I always felt uneasy about being out as bisexual. I wondered if being open about it would cause problems or damage my career development.

It's especially important for junior engineers to see LGBT+ people being open about their identities and being successful professionals in the sector. It encourages people to come out and be free and open about who they are'.

ÁLVARO HERRERA LÓPEZ,
PRINCIPAL MACHINERY ENGINEER, AIR PRODUCTS

LGBT Workplace Stories is a project to share the experiences of LGBT role models across different sectors, regions and walks of life. Read Álvaro's full story at www.stonewall.org.uk/workplace-stories