

Stonewall Allies Programme

Outcomes

Here are just some of the positive actions allies have identified after attending the programme.

As an ally:

- I am proud to value people's differences and motivated to tackle inequality, and the one thing I commit to is using my influence positively among friends and colleagues.
- I am proud to be in a position to support LGBT equality, and the one thing I commit to is not to be a bystander - at work, at home, anywhere.
- I am going to stand up in my workplace and feed back to senior management about what I have learnt today, and the one thing I commit to is to start an I am helping to create a culture where people feel included and comfortable being themselves, and the one thing I commit to is challenging complacency within my organisation and making sure we do more than just tick boxes.
- I am here to listen, support and give LGBT people a platform to be vocal about the challenges they face, and the one thing I commit to is challenging inappropriate behaviours anywhere.
- I am committed to making all employees feel valued, and the one thing I commit to is tackling inappropriate language and banter in the workplace.
