The Stonewall Top 100 Employers list is compiled from the Workplace Equality Index - the UK’s leading benchmarking tool for LGBT inclusion in the workplace. Completing the Workplace Equality Index is a voluntary, annual exercise which enables employers to measure, verify and improve their inclusion practice.

Organisations that enter the Index submit evidence detailing their LGBT practice across ten areas:

Policies and benefits: how the organisation audits, develops and communicates LGBT-inclusive policies and employee benefits

The employee lifecycle: how the organisation engages all employees on LGBT inclusion, from attraction and recruitment to retention, development and exit

LGBT employee network groups: how the activity of the organisation’s network group contributes to LGBT inclusion in the organisation and beyond

Allies and role models: how the organisation empowers allies and role models to create change

Senior leadership: how the organisation engages and empowers senior leaders to create LGBT-inclusive workplaces

Monitoring: how the organisation collects and analyses data to improve the experiences of LGBT employees

Procurement: how the organisation engages their supply chain on LGBT inclusion

Community engagement: how the organisation demonstrates commitment to LGBT equality and creates change in the wider community

Clients, customers and service users: how the organisation engages and consults clients, customers, service users and partners around LGBT inclusion

Additional work: what additional, innovative work the organisation carries out to advance LGBT inclusion

Stonewall also seeks feedback directly from the organisations’ employees who complete a confidential online questionnaire about their experiences in the workplace. This gives employers valuable feedback on their employees’ experiences, knowledge and perceptions. This year 92,418 people completed the questionnaire.

Taking into account the submission evidence and the questionnaire responses, Stonewall experts then carefully mark, cross-check and rank the submissions. The 100 top scoring organisations earn a coveted place on the year’s Top 100 Employers list.

The Stonewall Workplace Equality Index 2019, now in its fifteenth year, has been the largest yet. We’re immensely delighted by this year’s Top 100 Employers – and of all the 445 organisations that entered the 2019 Index – and I want to congratulate them for their continued progress on LGBT equality. You are leading the way in making workplaces more LGBT-inclusive and ensuring that LGBT employees, customers and service users can be safe, accepted and respected across the UK. Spanning diverse sectors from banking to healthcare, education to law and retail to government, the best employers are taking action to help create workplaces and services that, day by day, make a real and tangible difference to the lives of LGBT people. This year, many of our Top 100 Employers have not just led the way within their own organisations, they have also been strong voices campaigning for reform of the Gender Recognition Act, for marriage equality in Northern Ireland, for greater inclusivity in sport and more.

I’m particularly delighted that this year the Index recognises our very first Employer of the Year in Northern Ireland. This follows the 2018 launch of our Diversity Champions programme in Northern Ireland – a partnership between Stonewall and The Rainbow Project Northern Ireland who we are incredibly proud to be working with. Building on last year’s Top Trans Employers list, this year we also announce the first Bi-Inclusive Workplace Award winner. With almost two in five bi people (38 per cent) not comfortable enough to be out at work, there’s more to do on bi inclusion in UK workplaces; this award celebrates achievement and we hope will inspire others to follow.

Despite many employers making progress on workplace inclusion, much remains to be done. Our 2018 LGBT in Britain - Work report found almost one in five LGBT staff had been the target of negative comments or conduct from work colleagues over the last year because they are LGBT. Employees who are LGBT and black, Asian or minority ethnic, LGBT and disabled, or trans, are likely to face even greater workplace harassment or discrimination. Six times as many trans people report being physically attacked at work than LGB people who aren’t trans. Nineteen per cent of black, Asian and minority ethnic LGBT staff and 16 per cent of LGBT disabled staff report being denied jobs or promotions because of their identity, compared to 10 per cent for LGBT staff in general.

Changing things for the better needs us all to work together – across workplaces, across sectors, across communities – and using tools like the Workplace Equality Index helps systematically achieve sustainable change. Collectively, we can, and will, build a world where all LGBT people are accepted without exception. So, thank you to all of our Top 100 and to every one of the 445 organisations who took part in this year’s Index and here’s to working together to continue to change the world.

Pinsent Masons has been a high performer in the Stonewall Top 100 Employers list over the last 10 years, securing the number two spot in both 2017 and 2018.

The firm is passionate about diversity and inclusion which forms a core part of its values and purpose. Pinsent Masons believes that embedding a culture in which all its employees feel empowered to bring their whole selves to work requires ongoing commitment and the continuous implementation of transformational steps to promote progress.

Pinsent Masons has developed specific training for its HR department to remove barriers to employment for trans individuals, and training to ensure that all employees are able to create a welcoming environment for trans colleagues, clients and visitors.

The firm also offers development opportunities, including some specifically for LGBT women, supporting them to overcome the ‘double-glazed glass ceiling’.

Their active LGBT and allies employee network group engages with intersectional LGBT identities and offers a range of support and mentoring. Representatives across each of the firm’s eight UK offices deliver a comprehensive programme of events and initiatives.

For instance, in Belfast, Pinsent Masons is focused not only on shaping a truly inclusive work environment but also on ensuring they use their resource and influence to have a wider impact. In the last year, Pinsent Masons has played an integral role in establishing Businesses for Love Equality, a group of employers in Northern Ireland who published a joint statement in September 2018 in support of the extension of equal marriage. Pinsent Masons in Belfast has become an important role model to other employers across Northern Ireland when it comes to LGBT inclusion.

Pinsent Masons engages deeply with the LGBT community right across the UK. It supports organisations and community groups in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland and uses its position to campaign for wider LGBT equality publicly. It works with a number of schools to promote LGBT equality, acceptance and education.

With its senior executives playing a visible role in the firm’s initiatives for LGBT, the firm is explicit in its commitment to championing change for the LGBT community and enabling everyone to feel welcomed, supported and motivated regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity.

TOP TRANS EMPLOYERS

Trans employees face distinct challenges in the workplace. These can range from those around physical spaces, to direct discrimination and harassment. Stonewall’s Top Trans Employers represent the organisations that received the highest scores in the Workplace Equality Index for creating trans-inclusive workplaces.

EXAMPLES OF TRANS-SPECIFIC WORK:

- Does the organisation provide support and guidance to individuals who are transitioning while in their workplace, and to their managers?
- Does the organisation enable non-binary employees to be recognised on workplace systems?
- Does the organisation communicate trans-specific events such as Trans Day of Visibility?
- Does the organisation profile trans people in employee communications?
- Do senior leaders send strong messages about their commitment to trans equality?
- Does the organisation offer practical support to trans community groups and events?

65% of entrants had a policy explicitly banning discrimination on the grounds of gender identity and gender expression.

51% of entrants had work-related guidance for managers on how to support an employee who is transitioning.

50% of entrants enabled non-binary employees to have their identities recognised on workplace systems.

50% of LGBT employee network groups had held a trans equality awareness raising event.

44% of entrants had supported all non-trans employees (including lesbian, gay and bi employees) to become trans allies through training, programmes and resources.

43% of entrants had work-related guidance on the process for an employee to change their name and gender marker on workplace systems.

37% of entrants had work-related guidance for employees on how to support a colleague who is transitioning.

29% of entrants had guidance on facilities and dress code for non-binary employees.

21% of entrants had profiled non-binary people in employee communications.

4% of entrants had profiled visible trans role models from their senior management team.

Every year, as part of the Workplace Equality Index, Stonewall recognises individuals and groups who have gone above and beyond in promoting equality – both in their workplace and the wider community. The awards highlight the amazing work of passionate individuals across many sectors.

AWARD WINNERS

LESBIAN ROLE MODEL OF THE YEAR

Jacqueline Quinn is a network lead for Sky UK’s LGBT+ network, and an outstanding campaigner for LGBT equality and disability rights.

Jacqueline has pioneered professional development and mentor programmes for LGBT+ employees, leaders and allies. She’s facilitated dynamic roadshows, hosted fundraising events and brings a focus to intersectionality through her own experiences and powerful storytelling. Jacqueline’s passion for learning and development has powered change at Sky. She is known for changing mindsets and inspiring leaders to build more inclusive workplaces through her empowering engagement programmes.

Her restlessness to deliver equality has supported Sky’s journey to become a Stonewall Top 100 Employer.

GAY ROLE MODEL OF THE YEAR

Ray Vincent has worked as associate chaplain at the University of South Wales for 12 years and has been a Baptist minister for over 50 years. Ray is in his 80s and speaks about the fear that he experienced as a young, gay man at a time when homosexuality was classified as both a mental deformity and a crime.

During his time at the University of South Wales he has: become Chaplaincy LGBT Champion; organised LGBT History Month events for several years; created the University of South Wales Staff LGBT Network (in 2015); introduced rainbow lanyards, which are now being worn by over 2,000 staff members, and is a strong ally to all in the LGBT community.

In a blog post titled ‘A Gay Christian Minister Comes Out’, Ray shared his experience of coming out to his congregation for the first time, reflecting that: “One or two people in the church already knew I was gay… but this was the first time for me to come out to a whole congregation. It was a lovely experience of being warmly embraced”.

Hafsa works in recruitment support for Her Majesty's Courts and Tribunals Service in Birmingham, part of the Ministry of Justice (MoJ).

Hafsa is very active in the Midlands subgroup of the Department’s LGBT network, Spirit. This includes helping to organise an event for Bi-Visibility Day in the region and speaking on the panel, and arranging the MoJ presence at Birmingham Pride. Hafsa is also an ally of a gender, the cross Civil Service trans network.

In September, Hafsa featured in a Department-wide campaign promoting its values and how she exemplifies the value of ‘humanity’. Following this she shared the stage alongside senior leaders to speak about diversity and inclusion and her experiences as a BAME, LGBT Muslim woman as well as someone who has a disability.

In 2013, Captain Hannah Graf came out as a trans woman and became the highest ranking trans person in the British Army.

Hannah has supported the army with updating its facilities and policies, including developing a new guide to Gender Identity.

Alongside her work commitments, for five years she has been the trans representative for the Army’s LGBT forum.

She has built a wide network of support and has become the leading voice of change for LGBT issues, achieving huge impact at all levels. She is also spokesperson for the Army Engagement Group and a mentor to others.

With a positive, inspirational message, Hannah has championed enormous culture change, removing barriers for trans people and moving the Army’s diversity agenda forward.

Hannah is known for her openness and her willingness to support others, her dignity and her selflessness; she has been a trailblazer and has made a real impact in the Army and beyond.

David is Group Chief Financial Officer of Credit Suisse, and Chief Executive of Credit Suisse International, the bank’s main UK business. He is a proud member – and strong advocate – of Credit Suisse’s LGBT Ally programme.

David has been a vocal and supportive champion for LGBT issues within Credit Suisse, both in the UK and across the bank as a whole. His support is important given his place in the firm, and the visibility he brings to the Ally programme. He has been a strong supporter of the Bank’s Ally programme, encouraging employees throughout the organisation to sign-up as members. He also featured in a video, published internally and externally, which discussed the importance of diversity and inclusion within the workplace and was shared with the bank’s 45,000 employees globally. The video was particularly powerful in encouraging support for the LGBT programme at Credit Suisse.

When reverse mentoring was first introduced to the UK Executive Committee, David was the first to volunteer as a mentee, and encouraged other senior leaders to sign up. He meets with his mentor regularly and says that he has learnt a huge amount about LGBT identities, and in particular about intersectionality, by taking part.

David has helped to secure funding for the LGBT and Ally networks, and has led on the introduction of LGBT Ally lanyards across the UK campus and beyond. He regularly highlights the work of the LGBT Ally network at senior leadership events and through his monthly UK CEO newsletter.
Jonathan Slater, Permanent Secretary, joined the Department for Education in 2016, with a real interest and passion for inclusion. He has made a commitment to actively seek to increase the diversity of the department’s workforce at all levels, including senior roles.

He is the board sponsor for the LGBT+ Network, meeting regularly with the network, and has championed the introduction of gender neutral toilets in the department’s Coventry, London and Nottingham offices. He has been pushing for more inclusive procurement, as well driving a number of key cross-government issues forward. These have included engaging with Civil Service Employee Policy (CSEP) to create LGBT+ inclusive guidance for use across the entire civil service and the introduction of the ‘Mx’ title on the department’s HR system.

He is the first Permanent Secretary to attend the Stonewall face-to-face feedback meeting to hear first-hand about how the department might build on the positive work that has already been started, learn about best practice and lead change.

GSK’s LGBT+ network, Spectrum, has grown from a small support group for LGBT+ employees to over 1,000 members, LGBT+ and allies, across GSK’s UK sites. Spectrum aims to connect like-minded employees, provide support and help GSK shape a more inclusive environment for LGBT+ employees.

This year Spectrum ran a very popular selfie campaign to mark International Day against Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia, and organised flying the rainbow flag at GSK’s sites during Pride, a gesture that has since been replicated globally.

Spectrum helps to advise the business with members sitting on the Global LGBT+ council next to senior executives from across the business, which has helped shape policy, engagement and training across the business. Network members also take part in reverse-mentoring, as LGBT+ mentors to senior leaders. This year, 22 senior leaders have participated in the scheme.

Externally, Spectrum has also helped to form two external networks that aim to drive LGBT+ equality in science, including the Proud Science Alliance, the first science-based LGBT+ network in the world.
Citi has made bi-inclusion a priority for their LGBT+ strategy. Working closely with the LGBT network group, Citi has ensured that all of its policies are inclusive of bi employees and explicitly define and prevent biphobic bullying and harassment.

Citi has given visibility to its bi employees, including people of faith and people of colour. In 2018, their Pride Network London co-chair and Bi Role Model of the Year, Clare Eastburn, was featured on their global social media channels and Citi website.

The network has a bi rep who runs internal awareness sessions about bi identities and issues, including bi erasure within the LGBT community. The network also celebrates Bi Visibility Day and communicates to the whole organisation about this work. Senior bi staff members also speak at a range of external events.
BEING YOURSELF IN THE WORKPLACE

83% of lesbian, gay and bi employees feel able to be themselves in the workplace (87% of gay or lesbian employees and 72% of bi employees).

65% of trans employees feel able to be themselves in the workplace.

WORKPLACE CULTURE

57% of trans people feel that the workplace culture is inclusive of trans people.

86% of gay women/lesbians feel that their workplace is inclusive of them, compared to 87% of gay men, 69% of bi women, and falling to 63% for bi men.

THE BEST EMPLOYERS...

- Strive to create an inclusive environment where all LGBT people can flourish.
- Understand that when people are forced to hide parts of their identity, their performance suffers.
- Actively communicate their commitment to LGBT equality to all employees.
- Profile visible LGBT role models from across the organisation – and especially at senior levels – to demonstrate it’s OK and valued for employees to be themselves.

ROLE MODELS

37% of trans people feel that they have visible trans role models in their workplace.

25% of bi men, and 24% of bi women, feel that they have visible bi role models in their workplace.

63% of lesbians/gay women, and 68% of gay men feel that they have visible gay/lesbian role models in their workplace.
SUPPORT FROM SENIOR LEADERS

65% of employees (65% of gay and lesbian staff, 57% of bi staff, and 65% of heterosexual/straight staff) feel that senior managers in their workplace demonstrate visible commitment to lesbian, gay and bi equality.

But only 49% of trans employees feel that senior managers in their workplace demonstrate visible commitment to trans equality.

COMING OUT

66% of lesbian and gay employees feel comfortable disclosing their sexual orientation to all of their colleagues, compared to only 29% of bi employees.

15% of bi respondents said that they wouldn’t feel comfortable coming out to anybody, compared to just 2% of gay and lesbian respondents.

36% of trans employees feel comfortable disclosing their trans identity to all colleagues.

63% of lesbian and gay employees feel comfortable disclosing their sexual orientation to managers/senior managers.

Just 28% of bi employees feel comfortable disclosing to managers. 6% of gay and lesbian employees, and 27% of bi employees, would not feel comfortable disclosing their sexual orientation to any managers.

38% of trans employees feel comfortable disclosing their trans identity to managers/senior managers.

Just 36% of lesbian and gay employees feel comfortable disclosing their sexual orientation to all customers, clients or service users, with 16% of bi employees feeling comfortable disclosing to all.

22% of lesbian and gay employees, and almost half - 49% - of bi employees, reported that they would not feel comfortable disclosing their sexual orientation to any customers, clients or service users.

Just 22% of trans employees feel comfortable disclosing their trans identity to all clients, customers and service users.
NEGATIVE COMMENTS AND CONDUCT

41 PER CENT OF LESBIAN, GAY AND BI EMPLOYEES HAD EXPERIENCED NEGATIVE COMMENTS OR CONDUCT FROM COLLEAGUES AT WORK, ON AT LEAST ONE OCCASION, BECAUSE OF THEIR SEXUAL ORIENTATION (42 PER CENT OF LESBIANS/GAY WOMEN AND GAY MEN, AND 38 PER CENT OF BI PEOPLE) IN THE LAST YEAR

84 PER CENT OF LESBIAN, GAY OR BI EMPLOYEES SAID THAT IF THEY WERE A VICTIM OF HOMOPHOBIC OR BIPHOBIC BULLYING AND HARASSMENT IN THE WORKPLACE, THEY WOULD FEEL CONFIDENT REPORTING IT TO THEIR EMPLOYER, (86 PER CENT OF LESBIANS/GAY WOMEN AND GAY MEN, AND 78 PER CENT OF BI PEOPLE)

28 PER CENT OF TRANS EMPLOYEES HAD EXPERIENCED NEGATIVE COMMENTS OR CONDUCT FROM COLLEAGUES AT WORK BECAUSE OF THEIR GENDER IDENTITY

THE BEST EMPLOYERS...

Understand that it takes everyone to create an inclusive workplace.

Educate non-LGBT employees on LGBT identities and experiences.

Empower non-LGBT employees to become active allies and take specific actions within their organisation.
Our leading employers’ programmes support you to ensure all LGBT employees are accepted without exception in the workplace.

We have two programmes: Diversity Champions, for organisations operating only in the UK, and Global Diversity Champions, for organisations operating in the UK and globally.

WHY BECOME A DIVERSITY CHAMPION?

EMBED LGBT INCLUSION IN YOUR WORKPLACE

The most inclusive employers embed inclusion across their entire organisation in a structured and systematic way, using tools like the Workplace Equality Index and through advice on policies and practice from working with us as a Diversity Champion.

As a Diversity Champion, we’ll help you embed LGBT inclusion by:

- Supporting you to enter the Workplace Equality Index, providing detailed feedback on where you’re doing great things and where and how you can improve.
- Providing tailored email and phone support and advice through a dedicated account manager.

ATTRACT AND RETAIN THE BEST TALENT

A diverse workforce creates diversity of thought, action and innovation, but in a competitive market, your workplace culture needs to stand out to jobseekers.

As a Diversity Champion, we’ll help you attract and recruit LGBT talent by:

- Giving you the Diversity Champion logo to use on promotional materials.
- Advertising five jobs for free on Proud Employers, our exclusive LGBT-inclusive jobsite.
- Listing you on the UK’s only LGBT careers guide website, Starting Out.

BUILD YOUR PROFESSIONAL NETWORK

Becoming a Diversity Champion means joining a community of almost 800 employers. Collaboration and learning from your peers keeps you at the cutting edge of best practice.

As a Diversity Champion, we’ll help you build your network through:

1. Access to our annual series of seminars and webinars.
2. Discounted rates to our workplace conferences, where you can connect with hundreds of colleagues across different sectors.
3. Facilitated introductions to other organisations through our Memberships team.

LEARN FROM OUR EXPERTISE

We’ve been running the Diversity Champions programme since 2001. Years of working with employers in the UK and globally have informed our knowledge and expertise.

As a Diversity Champion, you’ll learn from our expertise by:

- Gaining access to our resources and guides. From inclusive policy to senior leadership, our library of resources and toolkits is always expanding.
- Having your policies reviewed by our in-house team of experts for LGBT inclusion.
- Receiving discounted rates to our empowerment programmes so your staff can step up as allies, leaders and role models in your workplace.

WHY BECOME A GLOBAL DIVERSITY CHAMPION?

The Global Diversity Champions programme will support you to live your values, wherever you operate in the world. On top of all the UK benefits, you’ll receive:

1. Tailored support and advice on your global work, including support to enter the Global Workplace Equality Index.
2. Access to our exclusive global webinar series and expanding library of global resources, including workplace guides and country briefings.
3. Facilitated connections with our network of over 100 NGOs throughout the world.
4. The Global Diversity Champion logo to use on your promotional materials.

EMPOWER YOUR TEAM

LEADERSHIP

LGBT LEADERSHIP

An intensive two-day residential programme for senior LGBT professionals which enables individuals to better understand themselves as authentic leaders, and how they can take action to make their workplaces more inclusive. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/leadership

STONEWALL LGBT YOUNG LEADERS PROGRAMME

A two-day residential programme for LGBT leaders (aged 18 – 25) starting out in their careers that helps them reflect on their LGBT identity within a workplace context, develop in their career and build their professional network. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/young-leaders-programme

INCLUSIVE LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

Stonewall is launching an exciting new two-day programme which offers non-LGBT leaders and senior professionals the opportunity to explore their potential to create positive and diverse working environments, and develop as authentic and inclusive leaders. For more information, email: empowerment@stonewall.org.uk

Stonewall’s vision is for a world where everyone, everywhere, can be themselves. Our mission is to ensure that lesbian, gay, bi and trans (LGBT) people across the world can participate fully in society as free and equal citizens.

Stonewall’s Empowerment Team works to enable individuals to recognize their potential to create inclusive cultures. Empowered individuals bring about positive change for themselves and for others by role modelling inclusive behaviours and helping to build workplaces, communities and services where everyone can be accepted without exception.

LGBT ROLE MODELS

A one-day programme for LGBT professionals at all levels to reflect on what it means to be an authentic and inclusive LGBT role model, and how to actively make positive change in the workplace. This programme combines elements of authentic leadership theory, facilitated reflection and action planning to explore the impact of role modelling inclusive behaviours. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/lgbtrolemodels

Stonewall also runs LGBT Role Models programmes for specific community groups, including: BAME/PoC LGBTQ Role Models, Bi Role Models and Trans Empowerment. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/get-involved/individuals-and-communities

ALLIES PROGRAMME

A one-day programme designed for non-LGBT professionals at all levels to explore ways in which they can be more effective and active allies to LGBT people in their workplaces and communities. This programme works to build confidence and knowledge, and to identify tangible ways to step up as an ally. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/allies

TRANS ALLIES PROGRAMME

A one-day programme for non-trans identifying professionals to explore ways in which they can be more effective allies to trans people. This programme works to build knowledge, confidence and skills by covering elements such as understanding different identities, terminology, myth-busting and action planning to identify tangible ways to step up as an ally to the trans community. For more information, please visit: www.stonewall.org.uk/trans-allies

If you’re looking to improve your LGBT inclusion work, Stonewall’s Workplace Conferences provide the cutting-edge content, inspirational speakers and unique networking opportunities you’ll need to succeed. We run Europe’s leading events on LGBT workplace inclusion each year in Edinburgh, Cardiff, Manchester and London.

Learn best practice in CPD-accredited sessions led by Stonewall inclusion experts and featuring speakers from the UK’s leading organisations, helping you to create practical action plans.

Expand your network by connecting with professionals from the UK’s leading employers, including senior leaders, HR and diversity professionals, employee network groups and LGBT staff and allies.

Be inspired by our speakers and by one another. Our speakers come from a range of leading organisations and will share their experience and expertise to help you make lasting change.

Join almost over 1,000 other professionals committed to equality at work at our next Workplace Conference in London on 26 April 2019 https://www.stonewall.org.uk/events/stonewall-workplace-conference-london-2019.
